RED TAPE COSTLY FOR SCHOOLS

The Tonopah school trustees received a long questionnaire from the Interior Department last week with instructions to fill out at once and return. The trustees paid no attention to the matter as none of the trustees could spare the time. Today they were reminded and will proceed to hire somebody to fill out the list of questions at a cost of about $100.

GOTHAM AS BUSY AS LITTLE TONOPAH

"You've not got the edge on Tonopah even if you are a bigger burg," was the way Fred Burnham talked right back at the hotel clerks in New York City when he was sent chasing around from one hotel to another for five hours before he landed a room about five feet square. "You're pretty nearly as busy but don't quite hit the same snafu for our people are more accommodating and give up their beds after putting in an eight hour shift while here you hear the school business at the rate of one man, one sheep, one day without letting the stranger hit the hay for a few hours."
